

Just for Teens

End-of summer teen trips filling fast

Jamestown teens have several opportunities to get some end-of-summer fun in before school starts.

On Friday, Aug. 19, teens will travel to the Washington County Fair, departing the Conanicut Grange Hall, 10 West St., at 4 p.m. and returning at 10 p.m. Space is limited to 12 students and tickets are $15. Pre-registration is required.

On Sunday, Aug. 21, the trip will be to Adventureland Mini-golf from 2 to 7 p.m. Tickets are $15 and departure will be from the grange hall. Pre-registration is required.

The final trip of the season is only available to teens who can demonstrate that they have completed 12 hours of community service this summer.

Eligible teens can go to Six Flags Adventure Park, departing at 10 a.m. and returning at 9 p.m.

The end-of-summer trip will cost $25 and space is limited to the first 40 teens.

All interested students must contact Melissa Minto in order to reserve seating and verify community service hours. This is first-come, first-serve, so register fast!!

Contact Melissa Minto at m3minto@yahoo.com or 741-0562 to register for programs, or for additional information. Since space is limited for all activities, register as soon as possible to reserve a seat!

Flexible routine

Outside garden watering limited to odd, even days

The basic water conservation rules for people on the municipal water system will continue through October, Public Works Director Steven Goslee told the Town Council Monday.

The rules provide that no town water can be used for lawn irrigation between June 16 and Oct. 31.

The washing of boats, houses, and motor vehicles is also banned.

Currently, vegetables and flowers can be watered with a hand-held hose for 15 minutes on weekdays on even-numbered days at properties with even-numbered addresses and on odd-numbered days at properties with odd-numbered addresses. There is no watering on Saturdays and Sundays.

Summer reading finale Aug. 25

The Jamestown library's Summer Reading Program, "Read Up a Storm," will present a free performance called "Dynamic Earth!" by Pow!Science! for children ages 4 and up and their families Aug. 25, at 6 p.m. in the library's meeting hall.

This is a chance to explore the powerful forces that shape the ever-changing planet. Participants brainstorm a list of the natural disasters that can change the face of the earth in seconds, and then perform hands-on experiments to model earthquakes and tornadoes.

Each participant learns the secret behind how they themselves support more than 2,000 pounds on their shoulders every day, and witness the awesome power of atmospheric pressure.

For the grand finale, each participant will get to build a miniature volcano, witness an eruption, and receive written instructions for producing eruptions of their own at home.

A potluck supper and the awarding of children's summer reading certificates will follow the program. Sign up to bring a main course, salad, side dish, or dessert. Beverages will be provided.

Registration is underway. Call the library at 423-7280.
