Operation Clean Governments Candidates' School Saturday at the Crown Plaza in Warwick.

Her panel will include state Sen. Teresa Paiva Weed of Newport. It will discuss what women need to do to win, including fund-raising.

We have never been able to understand the celebrity worship that goes on in our country. Beginning with the time players the ilk of Manny Ramirez, who the team owners seem to fear, were selected by the Red Sox, this fan of some 50 years stopped following the game.

And, how about the boorish antics by athletes sent to the Winter Olympics to represent the United States.

In Hollywood, "stars" are being fawned over and making newspaper headlines for their sexual prowess and outlandish behavior.

Of course, in the past there have been those titillating stories from the West Coast, like the time Errol Flynn took someone much younger than himself to Mexico on his yacht. Big scandal!!!

But you never heard any unruly scuttlebutt about one of our favorite actors.

Dennis Weaver died last week at the age of 81.

We met Dennis in the mid-60s when he flew into Cleveland to co-host "The Mike Douglas Show" for a week. Only his wife was with him, and he insisted upon carrying their luggage. He was there to promote his new role as McCloud in the NBC series of that name after years as Chester on "Gunsmoke."

It was a very comfortable week on the set. Dennis went along with anything the producers came up with.

At that time, "The Mike Douglas Show" was being telecast from a studio in the KYW-TV building in downtown Cleveland.

On the day after Dennis was scheduled to return home, the station was doing a promotional gig for one of the children's shows called "Barnaby." It was an invisible animal parade through the downtown area on a Saturday morning. Thousands of children were expected to show up with invisible animals in cages and on the ends of leashes. There was even an elephant that no one could see unloaded from a boxcar at the railroad station. (We had a lot of fun in those days.)

Dennis offered to stay an extra day and be the judge.

That left it up to us to arrange for Dennis' and his wife's accommodations for the Friday evening. We made reservations at the best steak house on Cleveland's East Side, and arranged to meet him at 7 o'clock at his hotel. In the course of the conversation, he invited Mim to join us and sent his limo to pick her up at our home in Bay Village, about a 30-minute drive west of Cleveland.

When we arrived at the restaurant, we received VIP treatment, the table surrounded with waiters to serve our every need.

We all read our menus. The choices of steaks were phenomenal, a meat lovers dream.

When it came time to order, the ladies announced their decisions.

Dennis ordered a salad. He was a vegetarian.

After our embarrassment subsided (We were supposed to know those things.) we all had a good laugh and thankfully his wife enjoyed her steak.

The next day Dennis stayed on the grandstand until the last youngster passed in front of him.

He returned to Hollywood and was a highly respected actor for the rest of his life.

His favorite expression was "There you go."

Sunday marks the date of the founding of the Girl Scouts in 1912. Tuesday is the Sap Moon.
