

The Jamestown REAL ESTATE SHOWCASE

Cartoonist to speak this Saturday

Illustrator and painter Jim Bush, an editorial cartoonist for the Providence Journal and co-author of the book "Is Social Security Broke? A Cartoon Guide to the Issues" will review over a decade of work pilorying local and national figures and events in The Art of the Political Cartoon: Editorial Cartooning in the State of Rhode Island on Saturday, Feb. 17 at 2 p.m. at the Newport Art Museum.

Bush has been turning the issues of the day into "cartoon" statements for the Providence Journal since 1994. Nationally, his cartoons have appeared in the Washington Post, National Weekly Edition, the Dallas Morning News, and he has also drawn for Tribune Media Services College Press Syndicate. He has annually, Since 1994, Bush has annually been included in the publication the Best Editorial Cartoons of the Year.

The cost of the lecture, $5 for museum members and $10 for nonmembers, includes a reception after the lecture. Arrive early as seating is limited. For more information, call the museum at 848-8200 or go to "Calendar" at www.newportartmuseum.com.

Central Baptist hosts guest speaker

Elizabeth Delude-Dix, executive producer of several documentaries on slavery in Rhode Island, will speak at 11 a.m. at Central Baptist Church this Sunday, Feb. 18.

Her talk is titled "Traces of the Trade: A Story from the Deep North."

Delude-Dix is one of the founders of the state's first public radio station, WRNI. She is also an adjunct professor of cultural and historic preservation, an undergraduate program she helped develop at Salve Regina University. She serves on several boards, including R.I. Council for the Humanities.
