

Cub Scouts camp overnite at Getty

More than 30 Cub Scouts and their parents attended Pack 1's annual Spring Camp-out at Ft. Getty on May 12.

The day began with the scouts participating in the anniversary ceremonies at the Conanicut Battery, led by Cub Master Bill Pratt. Following lunch they returned to Ft. Getty to pitch camp for the evening. In the afternoon the scouts were divided into three "tribes" and then rotated through three educational/fun stations; an obstacle course set-up by Diane Archibald and some volunteer Boy Scouts, a first aid course given by Scott Rafferty and an orienteering session run by Jim Archibald.

Dinner was an al fresco feast prepared by chef Greg DiGasper and consisted of community soup, a smorgasbord of side dishes and hand-grilled delicacies. A long nature walk along the coast, lead by Tim Dywer, put everyone in the mood for a nice fire.

Fire master Scott Rafferty came through again with a magnificent blaze, which kept everyone warm and hypnotized all night. The ghost stories were chilling and somewhat mysterious in nature at times. A light rain fell during the night but only after everyone was snug in their sleeping bags and then a bright morning sun dried the tents before camp was broken.

Breakfast consisted of a Cub Scout favorite, "baggy eggs," a recipe taught to the Pack by Diane Archibald several years ago and cherished by all. Greg's crew of sous chefs, Lisa Lawless and Bill Geib expertly prepared the eggs to each individual's specific taste.

After breakfast camp was taken down, the area policed, and everyone went home to celebrate Mother's Day.

Cyclers race for local charities

Recognized as one of the premier cycling events on the East Coast, the sixth annual Cox Charities Cycling Classic will be held Sunday, June 24, in downtown Providence. The United States Cycling Federation (USCF) sanctioned event will attract over 500 of the top cyclists in the country and thousands of spectators. The main event begins at noon.

Other races of note include: 2 p.m., Masters 35+; 3:15 p.m., Masters 45+; 4:30 p.m., Women's Open; and 6 p.m., Men's Open.

In addition to the exciting cycling races, there will be entertainment, food, and activities for the whole family. Radio station 93.3 Coast FM will bring their Kidz N Family workshops. Stop by the World Wrestling Entertainment booth and meet the ECW Superstar, The Extreme Educator, Matt Stryker. Join in the fun activities presented by HBO, Showtime and many more.

Proceeds from Cox Communications' signature event will benefit Cox Charities New England, which provides grants to non-profit organizations that support children and education. Annually, Cox Charities provide approximately $125,000 to local non-profit organizations.

Newport polo series turns 16

The Newport International Polo Series turned 16 this year, when it kicked off the 2007 series on June 2.

Every Saturday through September, exciting polo matches will be held at Glen Farm, located on the outskirts of Newport, six miles to the north on Route 138 in Portsmouth, RI.

Competitors this year will travel from Ireland, Spain, Scotland, Egypt, Jamaica, France, England, and Mexico as well as from the Northeast circuit of polo clubs.

This season will witness Mexico's debut in the Polo Series, just weeks before they host polo's World Championship FIP tournament. "We will have to play our very best against this formidable rival," states Dan Keating, captain of the U.S. team.

"The season will open against an ancient rival, Egypt, and will be non-stop polo action all summer long, with tough challengers and great social events throughout the season for our fans," adds Keating.

For more information about the matches, schedule updates and match results, call the seasonal information line at 846-0200.

Tickets are available at the gates one hour prior to the matches. Tailgate picnics on the lawn are welcome with field-side general admission of $10 for adults and children 15 and under are free.
