Police Log

Drunk driving charged

• Jamie C. Alarie, 28, of North Kingstown, was charged Sept. 19 with first offense DUI after he was stopped on North Main Road for failure to stop at a stop sign and erratic operation of a vehicle. Alarie was held overnight at the police station where he was arraigned. A pre-trial conference is scheduled for Sept. 28 at Newport District Court, police said.

• Maureen Mello, 39, of Narragansett, was charged Sept. 20 with first offense DUI and refusal to take a Breathalyzer test. She was stopped for speeding, driving without taillights, delaying to stop and parking in the middle of the road on the Route 138-West, North Main Road on-ramp. Mello was held overnight at the police station and was arraigned the next morning at Newport District Court, police said.

• Vedran Sudar, 21, of Middletown, was charged Sept. 24 with first offense DUI after failing a field sobriety test as well as a Breathalyzer test. Sudar was stopped for speeding on Route 138 east. He was held at the police station overnight where he was arraigned. He pleaded no contest at his arraignment Sept. 25, police said.

Domestic battery charged

Martha McMurtry, 45, of Dartmouth, Mass., was charged Sept. 24 with domestic-simple assault/battery after a domestic argument on board a boat at the Clark Boat Yard on Racquet Road. McMurtry was held overnight at the police station and was arraigned the next morning at Newport District Court, police said.

Vehicle break in reported

An unlocked car was broken into on Clinton Avenue on Sept. 24 and an iPod, peripheral accessories, a cell phone, and a purse were reported stolen.

Motor vehicle theft

A white, 2005 Chevrolet was reported stolen on Sept. 24 from in front of a home on Clinton Avenue. The vehicle was found several hours later parked on Pardon-Tucker Place. The owner said he lost a set of keys a few days prior to the theft. Police said it appeared the vehicle was not hot-wired. It was found intact with no damages. The incident is under investigation, police said.

Violence prevention benefit set

The Lindsay Ann Burke Memorial Fund will hold a dinner dance fundraiser, "Imagine: A World Without Relationship Violence, Benefit at the Beach," on Thursday, Nov. 1, at the Atlantic Beach Club in Middletown.

The Lindsay Ann Burke Memorial Fund was established in 2005 to honor the life of Lindsay Ann Burke, a 23-year-old Rhode Island College graduate from North Kingstown, who was brutally murdered. Lindsay was an education major and as such, this fund supports the prevention of relationship violence primarily through the education of teens, parents, educators, and the public.

All proceeds from this benefit will fund teen dating violence workshops and curriculum materials for Rhode Island middle and high school health teachers, as well as workshops on this topic for school staff, parents, and the public.

The evening will begin with cocktail hour at 6 p.m., followed at 7 p.m. by a buffet dinner and dancing to music provided by DJ Michael Delyi. Tickets are $50 per person. For more information, call 269-9353.

Authority must approve barn

By Tom Shevlin

The Rhode Island Turnpike and Bridge Authority has yet to officially sign off on the sale of a piece of property on Upper Taylor Point critical to the town's highway barn plan, however, that's not deterring town officials from moving forward on the project.

"Until there's final approval, there's no guarantee that the bridge site will go forward," Town Administrator Bruce Keiser told council members on Monday.

Still, that's not holding up the town's plans.

According to Keiser, Department of Public Works Director Michael Gray has indicated that plans for the barn could be before the council as early as the end of October.

In addition, Keiser said that the town has been approached by several environmental groups to take part in the planning and design process in order to minimize the impact of the project.

Keiser reported that RITBA Executive Director Buddy Croft has indicated that the Authority would be convening a special meeting on the purchase and sale agreement prior to their next scheduled meeting in October. Keiser said that RITBA had not given any indication it would reject the agreement and noted that it has the support of both Authority Chairman David Darlington and Croft.

Tourney to fund police dogs' vests

A charity that provides bullet-proof vests to police and sheriff K-9 units will hold a benefit golf tournament on Friday, Oct. 26.

The Rhode Island Vest-A-Dog organization will hold their 7th annual Glowball golf tourney at the Jamestown Golf Course. Sign in begins at 4:45 p.m., with a K-9 demo by the Rhode Island Sheriff's Department at 5:45 and a shotgun start at 6:15 p.m.

The cost to enter is $45 per player, which includes nine holes of golf, a glowball and glowstick, T-shirt and food.

IN LOVING MEMORY

CHRISTOPHER ALVES GOLINI

JULY 7, 1981 - OCTOBER 1, 2006

Do not stand by my grave and weep. I am not there. I do not sleep. I am a thousand winds that blow; I am the diamond's glint on snow.

I am sunlight on ripened grain; I am the gentle autumn's rain. When you wake in mornings hush, I am the swift uplifting rush. Of quiet birds in circle flight. I am the soft star that shines at night.

Do not stand by my grave and cry. I am not there, I did not die. I live with the Risen Lord!
