

Free compost bags now available

With the help of two local businesses, Jamestown Hardware and the Secret Garden, the Jamestown Department of Public Works is kicking off its annual composting program with the free distribution of composting bags.

These bags can be filled with yard waste and delivered by residents to the transfer station. Residents do not need a dump sticker to leave the composting materials at the transfer station.

The bags, provided through a grant from the Rhode Island Resource Recovery Corporation, are now available free of charge at both businesses.

Public Works Director Steve Goslee said that the bags must only contain material that can be composted such as leaves, grass, small branches and shrub trimmings.

The bags can either be dumped and reused, or they can be left on the compost pile.

'Invisible Children' screening and club

The Jamestown Invisible Children Club at the Teen Center is now forming and will meet on Monday nights beginning May 12.

Invisible Children is a non-profit organization dedicated to bettering the lives of people in Uganda. A war has raged for twenty years between the Ugandan government and the LRA, a rebel group that resorts to kidnapping children to turn into children soldiers. Millions of citizens have been placed in displacement camps with inhumane conditions. Because of Invisible Children's involvement, the United States has sent diplomats to Uganda to help promote peace and end the war. Now Invisible Children is hoping to bring people out of displacement camps and put children into schools and the teens of Jamestown can help make a difference.

The meetings will be from 6 to 7 p.m. and at the first session the group will begin brainstorming about fundraising ideas and awareness events. An informational movie about Invisible Children will be shown at the Teen Center on Friday,

May 9, at 6 p.m. There will be refreshments and a discussion after the movie. Everyone is welcome to join the movement and see this moving film.

For more information, contact the Teen Center at 423-7261 or email jamestownteens@yahoo.com.

Book group to discuss Tyler novel Monday

The next sessions of the Book Discussion Group will be on Monday, May 12, at 7 p.m. and Tuesday, May 13, at 1 p.m. to discuss "Dinner at the Homesick Restaurant," by Anne Tyler.

The evening group meets on the second Monday of the month and the afternoon Book Discussion Group meets on the second Tuesday of the month. Both groups are facilitated by library director, Judy Bell.

Meetings and titles for future discussions include: On June 9 and 10, the book will be "Suite Francaise" by Irene Némirovsky. The July sessions will be on Monday, July 14, and Tuesday, July 8, reading "A Snug Life Somewhere," by Jan Shapin.

The groups are open to the public and new participants are always welcome.

For more information, call the library at 423-7280. These books may be obtained through the Jamestown Library by placing holds on one of the many copies in the state available through the Ocean State Libraries.
