

Skate Fest

Recreation Director Bill Piva sees the day as an opportunity for the community to come together and portray the skate park in a positive light. "We also will use the SkateFest to get the message out that they have to treat the skate park well. It is their place and there are certain responsibilities they have to keep it up and running."

Robb Roach will be the emcee again this year. "He did a great job for us last year. He has a great repore with the kids and we're looking forward to having him again this year," Piva said.

In addition to the contest there will be a DJ, live music from Sidewinder and RBV, food from Freddy Bing's Hot Dog Thing, amateur skate teams from local shops and skate demos by pros. Pro skateboarder Donny Barley will be making his second appearance at SkateFest and will be one of the judges of the event. The other two judges are Roach and islander Jason Hamel.

The event is sponsored by Capture, Volcom, Hurley, Kingston Pizza, Kettlebottom Outfitters, the Jamestown Press, Del's, Hamel Graphics, Fountain of Youth Skate shop, Smith Optics and Scion of Newport.

Roach said that sponsors donate a lot of product for the event. "I always think the best part is throwing out gear to the kids and stickers and whatever we can get our hands on," he said.

Skip Winter from Link Marketing, who spoke on behalf of Scion, said they are leading the charge into the action sports arena and have attended multiple skateboarding events. As a new sponsor, Scion of Newport will be at SkateFest with multiple vehicles, one of which will have a gaming system with video games available for attendees to play.

The SkateFest will be a jam format and will run from noon to 6 p.m. Admission is $8 and all proceeds will benefit the Jamestown Teen Center. For more information, call 423-7261 or email Jamestownteens@yahoo.com pass the increase on to their customers. It will make the dumpster price go up, and on a big renovation job, a sizable disposal increase can amount to a pretty big hit."

Landfill

Spinnaker's Café owner Mike Ridge said, "The price increase for that one service isn't going to noticeably affect our prices or cost of doing business. But when you accumulate all the little price increases that have been occurring lately, they add up to a significant amount. I think everyone is feeling the pinch to some degree."

The Rhode Island Resource Recovery Corporation is a state environmental agency dedicated to providing the public with environmentally sound programs and facilities to manage solid waste. The agency funds and manages the state's recycling program, and owns and operates the Central Landfill and Materials Recycling Facility in Johnston.

The agency was created by the Rhode Island General Assembly in 1974 as the Rhode Island Solid Waste Management Corporation. It changed its name in August, 1996. Although it is not a department of the state government, RIRRC is a public corporation and a component of the State of Rhode Island. The agency is self-sufficient and earns revenue through the sale of recyclable products, methane gas royalties and fees for its services.
