

OBITUARIES

Rose Marie Hinckley, 92

Rose Marie Hinckley, 92, of Clinton Avenue, died Aug. 8, 2008 at Heatherwood Nursing Center in Newport. She was the wife of the late C. Harold Hinckley and Joseph A. Palombo.

Born on March 16, 1916 in Providence, she was a daughter of the late Felice and Maria (Lepore) Carnevale. She lived in Jamestown for 38 years, previously living in Providence and then moving to Newfoundland, Canada where she lived for 20 years.

She was a graduate of Central High School in Providence. She worked in the restaurant business during the 1940s and 1950s as a hostess at various Rhode Island restaurants, including the former Ambassador Inn in North Providence. She also worked in the retail garment business in Providence as a buyer of women's apparel.

After Mr. Hinckley's retirement, they moved to Jamestown, where she became active in St. Mark Church as extraordinary eucharistic minister and lector, serving on the Cemetery Committee and working for St. Mark Parish. She was an active member of the Jamestown Seniors Association and worked for the voter registry and Board of Canvassers. She volunteered for 15 years at the St. Joseph's Soup Kitchen in Newport, delivered food for Meals on Wheels and worked for the Red Cross. Rose was an avid gardener and won many awards while active in the Jamestown Garden Club.

She leaves a son, Paul J. Palombo of Jamestown, a daughter, Jo-Ann (Palombo) Burns and son-in-law Kevin M. Burns of Newport. She was also the mother of the late Mary Palombo and Patricia Ann Palombo. She is survived by her sisters, Phyllis Pilkington and Evelyn Cafferty of Providence, and Teresa Albanese of North Providence. She was the sister of the late Josephine A. Sullivan, her twin, Mary Bibeault, Victoria Rocchio and brother, the Reverend Thomas J. Carnevale. She is survived by many nieces and nephews.

A Mass of Christian Burial was held Monday at St. Mark Church, and burial was in St. Mark Cemetery. Contributions in her memory may be sent to the Jamestown EMS, P.O. Box 8, Jamestown, RI 02835.

Richard Paiva Jr., 41

Richard Paiva Jr., 41, died Saturday, Aug. 2, 2008 from injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

He was the son of Richard Paiva Sr. of Jamestown and of the late Alice Travers and was the grandson of Alexandria Paiva of Jamestown and the late Manuel Paiva.

Richard worked as a barber at Boons Barber Shop in Narragansett. An Army veteran, he served with the 82nd Airborne Ranger Division for three years.

He is survived by his fiancée Lisa Wild and her daughter, Ivy Rose, and his three daughters, Sydney Alexandra, Madison Victoria and Morgan Adrienne Paiva. He was the brother of Jack Amarral of Hope Valley, Lori Bennett of Charlotte, N.C. and the late Adrienne Beretta.

A Mass of Christian Burial was held at Our Lady of the Rosary Church in Providence.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the Philip Hulitar Hospice Center, 50 Maude St., Providence, RI 02908.

John D. Work, 74

John D. Work, 74, of Jamestown, died June 9, 2008 with his family beside him.

Born in Parkersburg, W.V. in 1933, he was the son of Howard C. Work and Nancy Keenan Work. He graduated from Phillips Academy in Andover in 1951 and Yale University in 1955.

He married his wife Carole Marchand in 1957 and then traveled to Yokosuka, Japan where he served in the U.S. Navy until 1960. He returned and graduated from the Harvard Business School in 1962.

John was executive vice president, head of corporate finance at the investment firm Shearson Hammill in New York until 1976. He then founded Johnson Steel and Wire Corporation and served as Chairman until retiring in 2006. He served on numerous boards throughout his life.

He is survived by his four children, Christi, Jeanne, Suzanne and Dave, and his three grandchildren Liam, Annabel and Amelia. Memorial Services are private.
