- The reservoir water color increased significantly this month. This is a common occurrence this time of year when a layer of ice and snow cover the reservoir and prevent sunlight from penetrating the water column.
- The treatment plant operated at 96 percent efficiency this month for turbidity removal.
- The new treatment plant building has been made weather tight and exterior railings have been installed.
- The electricians are pulling wire for motorized valves and equipment power supply, chemical feed pumps and filter control circuits.
- The standby generator has been load tested and is now on line.
- The plumbing contractor expects to fire the heating system this week.

- Installation of intake and exhaust duct and fans is ongoing.
- The interior filter piping is about 60 percent complete.
- The monthly average daily flow at the treatment plant for December was 1,080,000 gallons per day. The peak daily flow was 2.32 million gallons. The permitted flow for the monthly average is 730,000 gallons per day.
- The contractor has completed the original scope of work for the rehabilitation project. The last pay requisition is being processed.

Goslee also reported a water main break on Grinnell Street that was repaired immediately. During the break, service to a seasonal house was inadvertently turned on. This resulted in water running into a crawl space for about 30 days before the owner came back to check the house. The incident was reported to the town insurance carrier so a claim could be processed.

Celebrate year of the ox at URI

The University of Rhode Island will celebrate the Chinese New Year on Sunday, Feb. 1, from 2 to 3:30 p.m. in Edwards Auditorium, 64 Upper College Rd., at the Kingston campus. Doors will open at 1:30 p.m.

The Chinese New Year of the Ox, also called the Spring Festival, officially arrives Monday, Jan. 26. URI's celebration, organized and sponsored by the Confucius Institute, is free and open to the public. A donation of $5 per adult is encouraged to support the institute. Seating will be on a first-come, first-served basis. However, individuals may secure a seat in advance by purchasing a $1 raffle ticket at the Confucius Institute in the URI library.

URI's celebration, supported by URI's music department, will feature music and dance performances, calligraphy, and martial arts. It will also include a retrospective of China-related 2008 events at URI.

Door prizes include $20 coupons from the Chinese Mini Market, $25 travel coupons from ACBE Exchange, hand-made quilts, beautifully framed photographs of China, Confucius Institute T-shirts, and many other Chinese items. Drawings will begin at the celebration and continue throughout the month.
