FOR THE RECORD

A July 16 article on locally produced fresh food stated that Joe and Jesse Dutra's dairy cows at Wanton Farm, also known as Dutra Farm, in Jamestown produce milk for the Rhody Fresh Dairy Cooperative. According to Jim Hines, executive director of the co-op, some of the Dutra's cows are now producing milk for Rhody Fresh from their new home at a farm in West Kingston while Joe Dutra recovers from surgery. The Dutrass maintain a smaller herd of younger dairy cows that are not yet producing milk. The Dutrass are still members of Rhody Fresh Cooperative, which they helped to found.
