turn for nothing but an occasional thank-you, can afford one more home to live in.

As a very prejudiced member of the Jamestown Affordable Housing Committee (AHC), I have attended several of the workshops held over the past several weeks and years as the new zoning regulations have been contemplated and vetted in public. I urge the Council to vote NOW to pass them. AHC is in support of the changes being proposed in order to allow the town to begin the arduous task of meeting a 10% affordable housing mandate.

Our town is rich with character and characters. Affordable housing is vital for maintaining the very fabric of the town, and we have been quietly successful in placing families that have gone on to purchase their first homes. The demand is huge, the task of interviewing and making the "who gets in" decisions extraordinarily difficult, the supply is tiny. The new accessory dwellings that are contemplated under this new ordinance will go a long way in helping us keep our parents living here and provide a stepping stone for our younger volunteers, both of whom in large part are the fabric that make this community a wonderful place to live.

As for the heliports, the permit fees should include free Bose noise-cancelling headphones for the rest of the island. I fear we're going to need them for the nattily dressed Airport guy's 'quiet' Quonset plans anyway.

SAMS program a wonderful opportunity

I was pleased to see the new SAMS (Science And Math Scholars) program featured on the front page of the Press. This is a wonderful opportunity for Jamestown students. As principal investigator of SAMS, I would like to clarify some details of the program.

SAMS is a program brought to the school by the Jamestown Education Foundation. JEF conceived of the idea nearly two years ago and has since worked closely with Congressman Kennedy to write the proposal that has recently been funded by NASA. Lawn Principal Kathleen Almanzor immediately saw the incredible opportunity we presented and has been, from the
